

What have we done this week? 16th October 2009.

This term's work is very much focused on festivals with Eid, Divali and Christmas all happening. The children have stories about these festivals and we have displays and food appropriate to them. Every child in Nursery makes a cake for Christmas learning about the ingredients and experiencing the lovely smell of cakes cooking!

Little Harts have made Divas for Divali - the Festival of Light. They painted and decorated them with great care and with stunning results!

Rangoli patterns are from the Hindu culture. Houses are decorated with patterns of colour. Children have been sticking different paper and glitter on card to represent Rangoli mats.

On Friday children learnt how to make chappatis and cooked them in Red Room. Already they know that they have to have clean hands for cooking! The children had to count 3 spoonfuls of flour into a bowl and mix the dough. It had to be rolled thinly before being cooked. This was quite hard work but we had very good results.
